earthquake was plainly felt here at 3:08 P. M. to-day, the vibrations lasting about two minutes. It was perceptible in every portion of the city, and the book so alarmed citizens that only invalids and the helpless were left within doors. For probably two minutes preceding the shock many persons recognized a distinct and offensive smell of sulphur. While the vibrations lasted many articles hanging on the walls oscillated and some fell to the floor, while the plastering fell from the fronts and ceilings of many dwell-quite discernible. Clocks were stopped, buildings were cracked, and horse

Then a minute's awful calm was fol-

New York, May 3.—The stock market to day, except for three or four stocks, was as dul and featureless as yesterday, although operations are not extracted to the four stocks, was as dul and featureless as yesterday, although operations were character to trading. There was no news of importance, and operations were little more than manipulations by cliques and the usual purchases and sales by room traders. Fluctuations in the general list were unusually small and possessed little or no significance. Western Union was the principal point of attack in the foreneon, but gave place later to Reading and New England. Fort Worth and Denver was the conspicuously alrong stock of the day, but its movements had no offect upon the general list. Money was again bid up in the afternoon, and, in conjunction with the agavance in sterling exchange rates, had seeme little effect upon the market. Union Pacific was remarkably steady throughout the day, the improvement in its tore being generally ascribed to late reports of earnings. The opening this morning was generally firm, most stocks showing advances of from 5 to 5, per, cent. The market soon weakened, however, and fractional declines were established in the general list, while New England was especially weak for the first few minutes. A general raily occurred, however, induced weak throughout nost of the time. Finetuations in the general list, while New England was especially weak for the first few minutes. Chicago, May 3.—The wheat market was astive and stronger to-day, accompanied by a moderate advance in prices. The market opened at Silve, for June, sold to Sie, several times, breke off to Silve, but closed in the latest frading at Silvasie, with May at Sic. Wheat tuyers were divided among the local crowd, but none of them wanted any large amounts early in the day. In the afternoop, however, they looked on it as a better purchase, and June advanced to Sie. There was the usual after talk on the subject of yesterday's deliveries. It is now positively known that Kershaw paid for about four million bushels of cash wheat, and that an equal quantity was divided up among other houses. The general belief work in the clique owns practically all cash wheat. A reported good export demand at the seaboard was one of the strengthening features of the day's trading. Corn was active and firm. Receipts show a failing off, and operators were more inclined to purchase, The market opened a shade higher at 39%; for June; ross to 33%; c., and closed at outside figures. Oats were in better demand and stronger. Receipts again show a falling off. The market closed in higher than yesterday. Mess-pork in moderate demand in the way of settling up outstanding trades at current rates. Lard opened seady, and gradually fell back, and closed to, lower than yesterday. Short-ribs were loc, lower than yesterday. Short-ribs were facely, and gradually fell back, and closed to, lower than yesterday. Short-ribs were facely and gradually fell back, and closed to, lower.
